ACCREDITATION STANDARDS FOR COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES

Schoolcraft College accreditation standards require that all courses and degrees earned by employees or applicants for employment be obtained from:

1. United States schools, colleges and universities that are accredited by one or more of the country's six regional accrediting organizations. These include:
 - a. Middle States Commission on Higher Education.
 - b. New England Association of Schools and Colleges.
 - c. Higher Learning Commission.
 - d. Northwest Commission on Colleges and Universities.
 - e. Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.
 - f. Western Association of Schools and Colleges.

OR

2. Canadian schools, colleges and universities that are members of the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada.

OR

3. Foreign schools, colleges and universities (from countries other than Canada) that are members of the International Association of Universities.

Note: Schoolcraft College may choose to enlist the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers Foreign Education Credential Service, within AACRAO's International Education Services, to evaluate courses and degrees that Schoolcraft College applicants or employees have obtained from foreign schools, colleges and universities. This evaluation of education credentials from all countries of the world assures consistent treatment of those educated outside the United States.

Certification in certain technical/professional areas is considered on a case by case basis.
